

Integration Council and Local Elections in North Rhine-Westphalia

On September 14, 2025, the Integration Council and local elections will take place in North Rhine-Westphalia. These elections are crucial for shaping the future of living together in diversity and for fostering cooperation within the municipality.

For many migrants and citizens with a migration background in their family, this is their only chance to influence the political life in their city through their vote.

The Integration Council represents the interests of all people with an international biography or family history within the municipality. People from different backgrounds work together in solidarity for equal coexistence in our society. At the same time, the Integration Council serves as the committee for integration issues locally.

Together with city council members, the Integration Council members can promote an active, respectful, and acceptance-based participation policy in the city and community.

The Integration Council can better implement this the higher the voter turnout is.

Remember: Democracy thrives on the participation of all.

That's why we ask you:

Vote for the Integration Council in Erkrath on September 14, 2025.
